Principal's Message:

Enrichment programmes are extremely important in schools. They provide students with opportunities to develop skills that that normally would not in classroom settings, engage in real life problem solving and delve deeper into subject areas that they are passionate about. As such, enrichment programmes often help students to explore real life connections and bridge the gap between theory and practice. Such programmes are also excellent for personal development. Students are challenged to move out of their comfort zone, manage their time effectively and collaborate with others.

This week, we witnessed the launch of a number of student enrichment programmes. The school has entered into a partnership with IIT Madras for the School Connect programme wherein students from Grades 10-12 can enrol for online courses in a wide array of subjects. The Grade 8 students kicked off their personal project journey and the hostel students had the opportunity to attend a culinary workshop on Austrian cuisine. We also had the initial proposal presentations for Wings of Fire, our very own program for gifted students, and it was great to see examples of innovative thinking, creativity, along with enthusiasm during the presentations.

These enrichment programmes are crucial to implementing a holistic curriculum and can be a catalyst for both academic as well as personal growth. I would like to encourage all students to ensure that they participate in these programmes and would like to request parents to motivate them to do the same. It is important to see these programmes not as something “extra” but as an integral part of education.
